

Jennifer Main

Las Vegas' Brightest Light

It's truly amazing for anyone, much less a teenager, to stand out amid the glitz and glamor of Las Vegas. In a city where even convenience stores glisten with neon signs, it's easy to be blinded to real talent, no matter how brightly that individual might shine. Fortunately, Jennifer Main is rising above the neon jungle with artwork that is as stylish as any local musical revue and more colorful than the Las Vegas Strip.

As an 18-year-old, Main isn't even old enough to play a slot machine, but her works capture an energy that rivals that of the city she calls home. Bright, bold, contrasting colors are the trademarks of her dynamic compositions. Combined with her intensely personal figurative subject matter, these colors help evoke the emotion and feelings of her characters—a crucial element of her artwork. The beauty of the human figure and the exploration of relationships also serve as both inspiration and themes for her art.

A recent graduate of the Las Vegas Academy of International Studies, Performing and Visual Arts, Main lists Picasso, Chagall and Tamra de Lempicka as her primary influences. It is clear, however, that she has created a style and a niche all her own. Throughout her life, Main has shown great aptitude and appreciation for the fine arts with her 10-year study of piano, competitive ballet and jazz dance. Her first love has always been the visual arts, however, and Main has become proficient in nearly all media, including oils, acrylics, pastel, and watercolor.

Despite her young age, Main has already accumulated an impressive list of accolades and achievements. In addition to winning numerous scholarships and art contests, Main was invited to and attended an exclusive summer program at the Art Institute of Chicago, as well as the Art Expo in New York, where her work was widely acclaimed.

Jennifer Main is one of Las Vegas' youngest and most talented emerging artists. With a future as bright as her color palate, Main is an artist worth watching. Even in a city where nearly everything is a gamble, the extraordinary artwork of Jennifer Main is a safe bet.

Call 702-227-0220 or e-mail Rod@Artencounter.com

The Couple

A Perfect Night

Coffee Break

Music Mood